Dr. Block's Acceptance

When I wrote last month it was still uncertain whether Dr. Block would accept his election as Bishop-Coadjutor. At the last minute before going to press the paper was able to announce his decision. We are all very happy. I feel as if the whole Diocese were wreathed in smiles. There is a fine sense of security about the future, a complete confidence that the Diocese will go forward with new courage and faith to ever greater achievement. We know the very real sacrifices which Dr. Block and his family are making in coming to us. We can promise affection and loyalty in return.

It is tentatively arranged that the consecration is to take place at our Cathedral on September 29, St. Michael and All Angels' Day. We look forward eagerly to that great day, and we pray for God's blessing upon the new Bishop and the Diocese.

The Presiding Bishop

We have been most fortunate in having a nearly three-day visit from the Presiding Bishop. He has come; has seen and has conquered. In his addresses at San Jose, in Oakland at St. Paul's and in San Francisco at the Cathedral he has given us a new vision of the Church's mission to the world. He has opened our eyes and strengthened our loyalty. He has made us feel anew the need, the great need of Christianity in this storm-tossed world. We thank Bishop Tucker for all that he has done for us. We shall pray for God's blessing on his work, and we shall hope that he will come to visit us again.

Christianity and Sex

I came across a little book the other day which I wish to commend to the people of the Diocese. It is "Christianity and Sex" by the famous Dr. Cabot of Boston, who has so often given in books and articles help to those who seek guidance in their religious life. Dr. Cabot in this little book talks very wisely of the whole matter of sex, of the exaggerated emphasis upon it in these days and of the fact that important as sex education may be, education is not the ultimate necessity. One needs the motive and redeeming power of religion to achieve chastity and to work out the problems and difficulties of a successful marriage. The little book is not technical. It is helpful.

Church Attendance in Lent

We have now from almost all the Churches of the Diocese the records of attendance during Lent. In view of the fact that at least four of the six Sundays of Lent were rainy or threatening days, the reports are very gratifying. Taking the records as we have them (almost complete), the average attendance on Sundays through the Diocese during Lent has increased over 200 from last year. This is not a very great increase when one thinks that it includes reports from sixty-five Churches, but it is an increase and a definite increase. Of the total, thirty-five congregations report substantial improvement. Of the others the record runs about the same as last year and the years before and only eight show any considerable decrease. In those cases there were local conditions which seemed to make the decrease almost inevitable. All this is encouraging, but, after all, the records as a whole reveal a situation which is entirely as it should not be. Apparently not more than about 10 per cent of the communicants of the Diocese are in Church on any one Sunday. That ought not to be.

Let me make two comments on the reports. One asks why there has been the increase. I believe it cannot spring from any other reason than that Christian people are increasingly feeling the importance of worship in their religious life. If there is something of a return to religion it must show itself in a return to worship. I do not believe, in looking over the records, that the increase in attendance is due to any great increase in having what are sometimes called interesting services, or shorter sermons, or better music, or anything of that kind. Obviously, all those things count, and the personality of the priest, his Christian character and strength and his preaching ability all enter in. But back of it all there must be the realization that it is not only a need of Christian life to worship, but a duty resting upon Christian people.

My other comment is simply that such statistics as these reveal increasingly the importance of emphasis upon the Christian's duty to worship God with other Christian people, to receive the help of the Holy Communion and to make himself a real part of the great fellowship of all faithful people.

Social Work Conference

The great National Conference of Social Work is to be held this year in Seattle from June 26 to July 1. It is a fine opportunity for Pacific Coast people who are interested in social work. I hope there may be some from our Diocese who may find it possible to go. It fits in well with Asilomar, for the Asilomar Conference closes before that at Seattle begins. This is only one more word to tell the people of the Diocese again that the Conference at Asilomar is going to be fine. Come one, come all!

Missionary Education Movement Conference Asilomar—July 17 to 22

Good news! Startling news! Dr. Kenneth MacLennan, until recently secretary of the International Missionary Council and secretary of the London Missionary Society, will be at the M. E. M. Conference this year. Dr. Franklin Cogswell, secretary of the Missionary Education Movement in New York, will also be with us. The Reverend Caldwell Smith, Presbyterian Missionary from India, who was born in a missionary family in India and is now on his first furlough, will give the course on India. Mrs. R. W. Blosser will give the course on Methods. The City Church will be presented in a series of symposia.

The rates from Sunday evening through Friday noon will be, for two in a room, Longhouses, $13.75; Guest Inn, $16.50; with the Lodge and Scripps at slightly higher rates and also slightly higher rates for one in a room. State tax will be 30 cents for the period.

For less than the full Conference period the daily rate will be 25 cents extra.

Those who came on Saturday and desire to stay a day or two longer may do so at the Conference rate.

Please give this notice wide publicity.

W. R. H. HODGKIN,
Chairman.

When I wrote last month it was still uncertain whether Dr. Block would accept his election as Bishop-Coadjutor. At the last minute before going to press the paper was able to announce his decision. We are all very happy. I feel as if the whole Diocese were wreathed in smiles. There is a fine sense of security about the future, a complete confidence that the Diocese will go forward with new courage and faith to ever greater achievement. We know the very real sacrifices which Dr. Block and his family are making in coming to us. We can promise affection and loyalty in return.

It is tentatively arranged that the consecration is to take place at our Cathedral on September 29, St. Michael and All Angels' Day. We look forward eagerly to that great day, and we pray for God's blessing upon the new Bishop and the Diocese.

The Presiding Bishop

We have been most fortunate in having a nearly three-day visit from the Presiding Bishop. He has come; has seen and has conquered. In his addresses at San Jose, in Oakland at St. Paul's and in San Francisco at the Cathedral he has given us a new vision of the Church's mission to the world. He has opened our eyes and strengthened our loyalty. He has made us feel anew the need, the great need of Christianity in this storm-tossed world. We thank Bishop Tucker for all that he has done for us. We shall pray for God's blessing on his work, and we shall hope that he will come to visit us again.

Christianity and Sex

I came across a little book the other day which I wish to commend to the people of the Diocese. It is "Christianity and Sex" by the famous Dr. Cabot of Boston, who has so often given in books and articles help to those who seek guidance in their religious life. Dr. Cabot in this little book talks very wisely of the whole matter of sex, of the exaggerated emphasis upon it in these days and of the fact that important as sex education may be, education is not the ultimate necessity. One needs the motive and redeeming power of religion to achieve chastity and to work out the problems and difficulties of a successful marriage. The little book is not technical. It is helpful.

Church Attendance in Lent

We have now from almost all the Churches of the Diocese the records of attendance during Lent. In view of the fact that at least four of the six Sundays of Lent were rainy or threatening days, the reports are very gratifying. Taking the records as we have them (almost complete), the average attendance on Sundays through the Diocese during Lent has increased over 200 from last year. This is not a very great increase when one thinks that it includes reports from sixty-five Churches, but it is an increase and a definite increase. Of the total, thirty-five congregations report substantial improvement. Of the others the record runs about the same as last year and the years before and only eight show any considerable decrease. In those cases there were local conditions which seemed to make the decrease almost inevitable. All this is encouraging, but, after all, the records as a whole reveal a situation which is entirely as it should not be. Apparently not more than about 10 per cent of the communicants of the Diocese are in Church on any one Sunday. That ought not to be.

Let me make two comments on the reports. One asks why there has been the increase. I believe it cannot spring from any other reason than that Christian people are increasingly feeling the importance of worship in their religious life. If there is something of a return to religion it must show itself in a return to worship. I do not believe, in looking over the records, that the increase in attendance is due to any great increase in having what are sometimes called interesting services, or shorter sermons, or better music, or anything of that kind. Obviously, all those things count, and the personality of the priest, his Christian character and strength and his preaching ability all enter in. But back of it all there must be the realization that it is not only a need of Christian life to worship, but a duty resting upon Christian people.

My other comment is simply that such statistics as these reveal increasingly the importance of emphasis upon the Christian's duty to worship God with other Christian people, to receive the help of the Holy Communion and to make himself a real part of the great fellowship of all faithful people.

Social Work Conference

The great National Conference of Social Work is to be held this year in Seattle from June 26 to July 1. It is a fine opportunity for Pacific Coast people who are interested in social work. I hope there may be some from our Diocese who may find it possible to go. It fits in well with Asilomar, for the Asilomar Conference closes before that at Seattle begins. This is only one more word to tell the people of the Diocese again that the Conference at Asilomar is going to be fine. Come one, come all!

Missionary Education Movement Conference Asilomar—July 17 to 22

Good news! Startling news! Dr. Kenneth MacLennan, until recently secretary of the International Missionary Council and secretary of the London Missionary Society, will be at the M. E. M. Conference this year. Dr. Franklin Cogswell, secretary of the Missionary Education Movement in New York, will also be with us. The Reverend Caldwell Smith, Presbyterian Missionary from India, who was born in a missionary family in India and is now on his first furlough, will give the course on India. Mrs. R. W. Blosser will give the course on Methods. The City Church will be presented in a series of symposia.

The rates from Sunday evening through Friday noon will be, for two in a room, Longhouses, $13.75; Guest Inn, $16.50; with the Lodge and Scripps at slightly higher rates and also slightly higher rates for one in a room. State tax will be 30 cents for the period.

For less than the full Conference period the daily rate will be 25 cents extra.

Those who came on Saturday and desire to stay a day or two longer may do so at the Conference rate.

Please give this notice wide publicity.

W. R. H. HODGKIN,
Chairman.

Mrs. Frank Church in Auto Accident

Mrs. Frank Church, who was returning from the Synod meeting with the family of Dr. C. Carlisle of Palo Alto, was seriously injured when the auto had a blowout and overturned. Mrs. Church suffered a dislocated neck and severe bruises. Dr. Carlisle, wife and daughter suffered minor injuries. All were taken to a local hospital for temporary treatment. Mrs. Church will be taken to Pasadena later for continued treatment. We earnestly hope that all will soon recover.

Dr. Leiper to Speak at Trinity, San Francisco

Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, a noted Presbyterian, who attended the Oxford and Edinburgh Conferences and has just returned from the Utrecht Conference, will speak at Trinity Church, San Francisco, on Tuesday, May 31, at 11:30 a. m., on the subject, "World Council of Churches, Developed at Utrecht from Oxford and Edinburgh Conferences".

St. Peter's by the Golden Gate

An inspiring address on India by Frank Beckman greatly added to the success of the mid-Lenten apron tea held under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. C. H. Hodgson presiding.

A very tasty dinner was served to the parish in April by the Social Club members under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Holley, president. This club generously contributes to the necessities of the parish and the new music of the senior choir.

St. Alban's Church, Albany

On May 1, at 1:30 p. m., St. Alban's (Albany) gave a parish picnic in Memorial Park, in Albany. The day was fine and clear and about sixty members of the parish were present and enjoyed a delightful afternoon.

St. Alban's Church has been donated beautiful hand embroidered frontal pieces for the altar and lectern. The donor gave them in appreciation of early Holy Communion services on Sundays.

St. Cyprian's Mission

In connection with the Diocesan Journal for 1938, we have been asked to state that the Rev. Robert F. Humphreys, S. S. J. E., gives his full time to this Mission as its Vicar. He is no longer on the staff of the Church of the Advent. For some time St. Cyprian's Mission has been enjoying the use of its new building at Sutter and Lyon streets, San Francisco.

Progress at St. Mark's, Berkeley

By Mrs. Philip M. Stone

A recent dinner attended by two hundred and fifty members and friends of St. Mark's parish, Berkeley, celebrated the achievement of the $25,000 goal of the Restoration Campaign.

During six weeks, many of the men and women of the parish had given freely of their time to acquaint all the friends of St. Mark's with the needs and aspirations of their church. Not only were the campaign workers gratified by the increases in the amounts pledged by those who had been giving during past years, but they were also pleased that two hundred fifteen new names were added to the list of subscribers.

It will be possible now for St. Mark's to go ahead constructively in paying off the mortgage, already reduced by $2,700 as a result of this campaign, and in making needed repairs and replacements.

The splendid attendance at the services is evidence that the people of St. Mark's are appreciative of the helpful and practical sermons of our Rector, The Reverend J. Lindsay Patton. The Confirmation Class numbered thirty-five this year and it was their privilege to be confirmed by Bishop Parsons, on Sunday, April 24.

All Saints', Watsonville, Entertains Inter-Parish Association April 28

All Saints' Guild-Auxiliary of All Saints' Episcopal Church was host last evening to 50 representatives from the Monterey bay area Inter-Parish Association at a dinner meeting held in the Guild hall. Junior Warden of All Saints' W. N. Cumming presided.

During the evening Mrs. H. C. Wyckoff spoke on missions of the Episcopal Church in Japan, particularly in the city of Kyoto, which she visited on a recent trip to the Orient.

George Ward Stone of New York spoke on "Parish Finances" and a discussion on general parish business completed the program.

Ven. W. R. H. Hodgkin of San Francisco, archdeacon of the Diocese of California was a guest at the dinner.

The tables were attractively decorated with sprays of hawthorn down the center interspersed with French bouquets. The dinner was in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. B. C. Reed, Florence Peck, Nella SeEVERS, Julia Tholeke, Mrs. A. W. Geddes and Dorothy Schuchard.

The next meeting of this nature is planned to be held about July 23 in either Pacific Grove or Asilomar, as may be found most expedient.

The Archdeacon's Letter

Dear Friends in the Diocese of California and Elsewhere:

What a season this has been: Special Convention, Pilgrimages, Divinity School Commencements, Synods and Convocations and visits of the Presiding Bishop! Jump, jump from one thing to another! There ought to be quite a let down with nothing to do but catch up on the things put off till tomorrow. And now the Conferences are at hand, my particular interests are the National Tuberculosis in Los Angeles and the Diocesan Summer School at Asilomar and the Missionary Education Movement Conference also at Asilomar and the First Pacific Coast Rural Workers Summer School at Berkeley.

Incidentally my family is moving from the Hillegass Ave. house to 2731 Regent Street in Berkeley. However, what with the conferences and spending six weeks or so at Saratoga it will be some time before we are settled in the new location.

Which is the best choir in the Diocese? I have heard most of them and I don't know. Some clergy think their choirs are standard-setters for the Diocese but I doubt it, there are too many under capable leadership and doing good work. I have just visited St. Augustine's, Oakland, and there is a good choir, a credit to any Parish.

For a long time I have been talking about a new Vicarage at Paso Robles, and I had thought to write a letter to the clergy, which letter would embody some such ideas as the following: Early in my ministry I heard the late Rev. James S. McGowan plead for funds for a Vicarage at Monterey and I remember I helped by giving him Five Dollars. Now I would suggest to the Clergy of the Diocese that each one who has a comfortable parsonage send Five Dollars or more to me for Paso Robles. But why should that letter be sent only to the Clergy? Would it not be as appropriate for the Laity in comfortable houses to think of the Vicar of St. James', Paso Robles? I submit the following scale of contributions and urge that before the thought perish every reader of this Pacific Churchman, Bishop and other Clergy and Laity alike all send their contributions—assessments. If you live in a hut send One Dollar or less; if in a cabin send Two Dollars, if in a cottage send Three Dollars and if a house send Five, but if you live in a residence or deanery send Ten, and if you live in a mansion send Fifty or a Hundred, and if you live in a palace or castle send Five Hundred Dollars. The number of baths would be an indication of your class.

I wish I could impress upon you, Gentle Reader, that I am mighty serious about this Vicarage business. It would be fine if we could have it ready for dedication at the time of the Annual "Pioneer Day" at Paso Robles. The late Rev. Charles L. Thackeray initiated and promoted "Pioneer Day" and it is being carried on in his memory by those who knew and loved him. I should like to think of the new Vicarage as the Diocese's expression of our love for him.

Gratefully,

W. R. H. HODGKIN,
Archdeacon.

Episcopal City Mission Society

By the Rev. Henry Purcell Veazie

The Society held its annual meeting on Monday, May 9th., at the Diocesan House and the same officers who have served during the past few years will continue in office for another year. The Bishop of the Diocese, Honorary President; the Rev. Henry P. Veazie, President; the Rev. Frederick K. Howard, Chaplain; Miss Alice G. Phillips, Secretary-Treasurer, and Miss Eleanor M. Davenport, Corresponding Secretary.

As many know, the Society was founded by Bishop Noel Porter, then Archdeacon of the Diocese, to supplement the parochial activities of the Church by maintaining services in Public Institutions, providing regular visitors to Hospitals and Homes and developing a bureau for Parochial cooperation and follow-up work. Also, to aid the Social Service Department of the Diocese. These things the Society has endeavored to do, though poorly, and its main work is centered at the Laguna Honda Home, where some 300 of our Church people live. Recently, we have been fortunate to secure the services of Deaconess Drake, who along with four or five volunteer workers, is doing a splendid piece of Christian Social Service.

The Society is greatly limited in its work by a lack of funds and it is all we seem able to do to raise $25 or $30 at Christmas time in order to give our elderly Church people out there at Laguna Honda a small Christmas party. Certainly, something is amiss! Either the people of the Diocese do not know of the existence of the City Mission Society or they are indifferent to this character of work, which I do not believe.

With this in mind, we are having a service in the interests of the Society at Grace Cathedral on Trinity Sunday, June 12th, at 4 o'clock, at which the Rev. Sumner Walters of Christ Church, Alameda, is to be the preacher. Members of Parishes and their friends are most cordially invited to be present.

Below is printed a membership form and it would certainly give courage and heart to the Society and its voluntary workers to have many more in the Diocese become supporters of this fine work. At present there are only 25 members. Please send your check for membership to the Episcopal City Mission Society, Diocesan House, 1055 Taylor street, San Francisco.

All Saints' Church, San Francisco

All Saints' Sunday School has been enjoying a gradual increase in enrollment each Sunday for the past few months. The average attendance for the past few months has been much higher than at the same time last year. The series of examinations which has been going on since this last winter for the boys and girls of the junior and senior departments are about over. The series included such things as the Ten Commandments, Nicene, Apostle's Creeds, etc. The winners will be awarded suitable prizes by Dr. Little and the class which has been the most outstanding since last September will also be awarded their prize before school is out.

All Saints' is hoping to have a very large representation at Asilomar and we are working toward that end.

The Ladies' Auxiliary with their dahlia show and tuber sale realized over fifty-five dollars, which will greatly help in their missionary work.

The rectory of the church has been painted in the last month. Thanks are due the Little Club, which started the ball rolling with $50, and to many others who helped with the worthy job.

St. Margaret's House, Berkeley

The Board of Trustees of St. Margaret's House is happy to announce the coming of Dean Springer as the new executive of St. Margaret's. Dean Springer has occupied with distinction a similar position at the Philadelphia Church Training School for seven years. She will be the third dean to head the work of this growing institution, the other two being Dean Anita Hodgkin and the late Dean Anna G. Newell. Dean Springer will assume her duties before the beginning of the new term, which is scheduled for August 20.

Dean Springer received her A.B. degree from Radcliffe and her A.M. from the University of Pennsylvania. She majored in the field of Social Service and has held many significant positions in Christian Social Service work under the auspices of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. She has also served with the Federal Children's Bureau. Her work at the Philadelphia Church Training School is well known. At the same time she has continued to play a prominent part in the Diocesan Departments of Religious Education and Social Service.

The members of the Board of Trustees are certain that St. Margaret's is indeed fortunate to secure the benefit of Dean Springer's considerable experience. They are confident that she will lead the House and School along paths of wider and more effective service, and extend to her a most cordial welcome.

The Board also wishes to express its gratitude to Dean Henry H. Shires of the Church Divinity School and to Miss Ellen Gammack, who have given so generously of their time this past year serving as Acting Dean and Acting Head of the House. Dean Shires not only carried through the ordinary routine of the School, but expanded and improved the curriculum, and did much to convey information about St. Margaret's throughout the Province.

The Salinas Valley Mission

By Alice L. Mitchell

Led by the crucifer, Bruce Peachey, and the choir, and accompanied by a brass quartette from the Paso Robles High School, a procession entered the Wayside Cross Park on Vineyard Mountain, and proceeded to the foot of the Bishop Nichols Memorial Cross, on Sunday, May 1. The clergy present were the Vicar, Rev. Lloyd B. Thomas, the Rev. Albert Clay, the Rev. Enoch Jones, Archdeacon Hodgkin and Bishop Parsons. Although the sky was threatening, there was a generous congregation of about eighty persons, some forty of whom were on pilgrimage from outside the district. After Morning Prayer, the Vicar presented Henrietta Brown and Beverly Lyle for confirmation. The Bishop preached a helpful sermon on the meaning of the Cross.

The pilgrims had arrived at St. Mark's, King City, on Saturday evening, where they were entertained at dinner by the women of the guild under the direction of Mrs. W. S. Hamilton. The Archdeacon celebrated the Holy Communion before the party left for the Wayside Cross on Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas entertained in the delightful vicarage garden on May 10, assisted by Mesdames Ballard, D. Lyle, H. Lyle, E. Booth, Peachey and Farmer.

At a meeting of the Vestry on May 10, approval was given for the appointment of two committees to work out plans for building the vicarage. The Vicar announced the appointment of Dr. Peachey and Messrs. Hitchcock and Douglas on the building committee, and of Dr. Sobey, Captain Killian and Mr. E. Booth on the finance committee.

The Mission has been greatly stimulated by the visit of the Diocesan President of the Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. D. S. Lloyd Jones. She met the ladies of St. James', Paso Robles, at a lunch on May 12. The Vicar and Mrs. Thomas drove her to Parkfield on May 13, where she was entertained at tea by Mrs. H. H. Durham. On Sunday she spoke at the morning service in Paso Robles, at an afternoon service at San Ardo, and at the evening service in King City. On May 14, the Vicar and Mrs. Thomas drove Mrs. Jones to St. Stephen's, San Luis Obispo, where the guild entertained at lunch and heard her admirable presentation of women's work in the church.

Notes from St. Clement's, Berkeley

By Augusta B. Greene

The Easter Monday dinner in St. Clement's parish home will long be remembered for the especial feeling of good fellowship which seemed more than usually infectious that evening. Perhaps the happy face of the Rector as he remembered the unusually large confirmation class and the busy "Service League" throughout the Lenten weeks was an inspiration and he had the pleasure of announcing that in spite of the "pression", or "recession" (or whatever tries to keep the people's money fast in their pockets), the Easter offering was the largest in the history of St. Clement's.

Possibly the new "Housekeeping Committee" played its part also, for surely the dinner was one of the finest ever served in the parish, and everything so spick and span that the parish seemed making fast time upgrade.

The evening was climaxed with a most interesting and enlightening talk by Dr. Walter Morritt on "The Eagle Over Ethiopia".

The beautiful white dossal dedicated on Easter Sunday was a gift of Mr. M. F. G. Kirchhoff in memory of his wife, the Altar Society having a part in it also. Mr. and Mrs. Kirchhoff were married in St. Clement's a number of years ago, and lived in Honolulu. While on a visit in the mainland in 1936, Mrs. Kirchhoff passed away and the Rector officiated at her funeral. Now the dossal will be a fitting testimony to her Christian life.

GRACE CATHEDRAL NOTES

Singing Youth

Wide-eyed youth came to the Cathedral on the first Monday in May. They entered with heads thrown back and the upward look that should belong to such an environment. Forty members of the A Cappella Chorus of Marin County Junior College stopped for a little space on their way to a musical festival in San Jose. To the accompaniment of the Cathedral organist they sang "Ein Feste Burg" and, unaccompanied, sang three Bach chorales and an English folk song, all most charmingly. Sixteen of these young people sing in the choir of St. John's Church, Ross. Following the singing, our organist played for them and displayed the beauty of the organ as the young music lovers crowded around him. They were a reverent group, made up of various religions and colors. After the recital they climbed into their big yellow school bus and were on their way. We shall be glad to greet them again.

Mrs. Harold Vanderbilt to Deliver Lecture

Mrs. Harold M. Vanderbilt of New York, a distinguished and scholarly woman, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Chateaux and Monasteries of French Switzerland" at the Century Club, on Franklin and Sutter streets, on Thursday, June 2, at two-thirty. Mr. N. Stuart Smith, concert pianist, will give a short program of music in conjunction with the lecture.

The romantic histories of the ancient Swiss chateaux and the beautiful settings in which they were built will make the subject of an afternoon of delightful entertainment. There is much interest being shown in the occasion, both by the members of the church and by the Swiss Consul and members of the Swiss colony here.

The proceeds of the lecture will be donated to the Maria Kip Orphanage.

To the Lady With the Lamp

To the memory of Florence Nightingale, the Annual Service was held on May 15 at four o'clock. Three hundred nurses attended, representing nearly all the schools in the city, together with the Grey Ladies and the Red Cross. Hymns and a psalm that the founder of nursing had loved were used and all the impressive group of uniformed nurses joined heartily in the singing. The address was given by Dr. Donald Brookman, rector of Trinity Parish, San Francisco. It was a serious charge to the nurses and was effectively delivered. The Cathedral choir sang as an offertory "Hark, Hark My Soul", by Shelley, with solos by Donald Ainsworth and Walter Dahlin. With each year this service shows signs of growing interest.

Grace Cathedral Carillon

Celestial music will peal forth from the Tower of the Sun, the magnificent spire on Treasure Island, during the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

This "music of the skies" will originate in a great Carillon—the gift of Dr. Nathaniel Coulson of San Francisco—to be installed in the 400-foot spire. At the conclusion of the West's World Fair the Carillon will be moved to a permanent home in Grace Cathedral here.

The Carillon of forty-four bells is to be manufactured by Gillett & Johnston of Croyden, England, a firm which has fabricated Carillons for more than a hundred years. Contract for installation of the Carillon in the Tower of the Sun was signed Friday by W. P. Day, Exposition vice-president and Director of Works.

"The largest bell of the Carillon to be installed in the Tower of the Sun," said Cyril Johnston, Managing Director of Gillett & Johnston, "will be the Bourdon. It alone weighs six tons. The note of this great bell is low G. On this bell is to be inscribed Dr. Nathaniel T. Coulson, Born Penzance, Cornwall, England, 1853. University of California Graduate of the Class of 1885.

"The remainder of the Carillon will consist of three and a half chromatic octaves, rising from low C, which weighs two and a half tons. The total weight of the bells will be twenty tons and with their frame and equipment the aggregate weight will be about thirty-four tons."

Johnston came to San Francisco from England to complete arrangements with the Exposition.

The Carillon, costing approximately $50,000, will be on Treasure Island for installation toward the end of 1938. Installation will be made under the direction of a foreman sent here from England, according to Johnston.

The largest bell of the Carillon, the Bourdon, will be at the 210-foot level of the Tower of the Sun. The lower tier of the other bells will be at the 240-foot level. Not only will the Bourdon be used in conjunction with the other bells, but it will be hung for swinging also. When atmospheric conditions are favorable, the peals of the Bourdon may be heard for a distance of five miles, it was declared by Johnston.

"The bells themselves," said Johnston, "will be tuned on our firm's improved Five Tone Harmonic Principle, each bell being true with itself as well as with all the other bells. This system, re-discovered and improved in England in recent years, was practised by the best Dutch Bellfounders 300 years ago and was a lost art for more than two centuries."

The Tower of the Sun on Treasure Island, as well as the Grace Cathedral Tower, are ideal sites for a Carillon, according to Johnston.

"The magnificent Tower of the Sun," he explained, "provides ample space for satisfactory arrangement of the bells. The height will tend to improve the music of the Carillon, while the proximity of San Francisco Bay is a further advantage, for sound is carried further and is mellowed in the vicinity of water."

Johnston stated the Carillon will be operated electrically by remote control in either of two ways—by an ivory keyboard, manipulated by a carillonneur, or by a mechanism which operates somewhat similarly to player-piano apparatus. This apparatus may be set in motion by a clock at any interval required.

The Exposition hopes to bring famed carillonneurs, such as Kamiel Lefevere, here for Carillon concerts during the Fair. Lefevere, carillonneur at Riverside Church, New York, is perhaps the outstanding pupil of M. Jef Denyne, famed Belgian Carillon mentor.

What about the man, Dr. Coulson, who made this splendid Exposition feature possible? Now 84 years old, Dr. Coulson, a retired dentist, not only donated the money for the Carillon, but for one of the Towers of Grace Cathedral as well. So that he might finance these undertakings close to his heart, Dr. Coulson limited his personal budget to one dollar per day. It was at his suggestion that the Carillon be installed in the Tower of the Sun, for the benefit of Exposition visitors, before taking up its permanent location at Grace Cathedral atop Nob Hill.

Dr. Coulson came to the United States from England in 1875, and ten years later graduated from the University of California.

"San Francisco has been good to me," Dr. Coulson said. "I have no relatives, no family ties. It was my wish to use my fortune for the benefit of the city, and I am happy to land, was first set up in Newcastle-on-Thyne and subse- the World's Fair."

Lostwithiel, the little Cornish town where Dr. Coulson spent his boyhood, has also been the recipient of his benefactions, it was revealed by the Managing Director of Gillett & Johnston.

"Dr. Coulson," said Johnston, "was responsible for recasting the bells at Lostwithiel. There is a Coulson Park in the village, and in 1935 he added a fine rustic building to celebrate the Silver Jubilee of King George the Fifth and Queen Mary."

Johnston said he believed the Carillon on Treasure Island would be one of the major attractions of the West's World Fair.

"As I recall it," he said, "a Carillon was used at expositions on two or three previous occasions. One, which was constructed for a War Memorial in Ontario, Canada, was played regularly at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, and the Wellington War Memorial Carillon, New Zealand the Exposition the Carillon for Treasure Island for quently in Hyde Park, London. More than 200,000 people formed the week-end audiences on some occasions for these Carillon concerts."

Daughters of the King

The semi-annual meeting of the Diocesan Assembly of the Daughters of the King was held at the Church of St. Matthew, in San Mateo. The rector, Rev. Lindley H. Miller, was celebrant at the Corporate Communion, and the preacher.

After a delicious luncheon served by St. Matthew's Chapter, assisted by the Juniors—St. Katherine's Chapter—and by members of the Guild, the meeting was called to order, in Julia Beylard Parish House.

Mrs. Hill, vice-president of the San Francisco Convocation, outlined her visits to chapters in her area, stressing particularly the Admission Service of the seven new members of "Help-One-Another" Chapter at Laguna Honda Home. She spoke of the need for an organist who would volunteer to play for the services on the first and third Thursdays of the month, when morning prayer and Communion are provided for the residents of the Home.

Miss Macdonald of the Oakland Convocation commented upon the fine achievement of Ruth Chapter with its 125 calls, and of the custom of Emmanuel Chapter of Christ Church, Alameda, which meets for a half-hour of prayer before the opening of the regular meeting.

Mrs. George of San Jose Convocation reported visits to Palo Alto and San Mateo and of a projected one to San Jose. All Saints' Chapter, Palo Alto, is assisting the Guild to make altar hangings, and serves monthly dinners to Stanford students. As directress of Ellen Wheaton Brewer Chapter of Junior Daughters, she spoke of the work of these girls for the Maria Kip Orphanage, and the Canon Kip Home, as well as of their interest in Mr. Wu's True Sunshine Mission, for which they have had printed 100 hymn cards, which they presented at Easter with a quantity of beautiful flowers for the Easter decorations.

The following chapter reports were made:

Seniors

Emmanuel Chapter, Christ Church, Alameda—Corporate Communion every third Sunday. Bible Study class conducted by the vice-president after each business meeting. A tribute of appreciation to the president, Mrs. Grace Taylor, as a living example of faith, love, devotion to our Master in her untiring work for the Order and in her courage in facing her recent sorrow.

Trinity Chapter, San Francisco—Breakfast on March 27 for the officers and young people of the Church School following their Corporate Communion. Twelve pairs of curtains for the Indian Mission at Fort Defiance, Arizona, made by the Chapter and sent with the customary Easter gift of candy for Miss Harman and her helpers. An inspiring visit from the Diocesan first vice-president, Mrs. Hill.

Juniors

Bishop Parsons Chapter, All Saints', Palo Alto—The making of a private set of communion linens for communicating the sick, as an ordination gift, was a valuable opportunity for learning the meaning and use of the pieces as they were fashioned. Vestments were studied and choir music mended. Study in Lent of Wilson's "Outline of the Christian Sacraments". Cards made for distribution with the altar flowers, and 450 palm crosses for Good Friday. Gift of eight pots of flowers, grown by the members to the newly admitted chapter of Help-One-Another. Easter cards to children in the Salinas Valley.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Louise Osborne

Trinity Chapter has just lost a faithful and devoted Daughter of the King in the passing of Mrs. Louise Osborne on Easter Monday at St. Luke's Hospital, following a brief illness.

This fine Christian character, by her sunny disposition and willingness to give her services whenever and wherever needed, has made herself an invaluable member of Trinity Church, and has been an inspiration and example for us all. One-time president of Trinity Chapter, member of St. Mary's Guild, Christian Social Service and Woman's Auxiliary, Mrs. Osborne's loss will be keenly felt in both Parish and Diocese.

Of her it can be truly said, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord".

Daily Vocational Bible School

Would you like to have your church, guild hall and Sunday school rooms crowded with lively and happy children during the summer?

Would you like to see your church as the center of children's activities?

Would you like to arouse the interest of the parents of your community?

"Yes—by all means—but how can I do it?"

The answer is: the Daily Vocational Bible School.

"But—it costs a great deal of money to buy teaching material and supplies—neither can we get teachers to run the school—and the children are glad that vacation is here and they don't have to go to school."

Six years ago the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley, California, faced the same situation. Everyone said: "It can not be done." But we were reminded that people said the same thing before the Golden Gate Bridge was built—they said the same before the Panama Canal was built—until "One man came down to Panama—and the mountains stood aside."

And those who built the mighty canal sang this song:

"Got any rivers that are uncrossable?
 Got any mountains that you can not tunnel through?
 We are specializing in the wholly impossible,
 Doing the thing that nobody can do."

Well could we adopt this as our theme song. For in the Church we are doing what the world calls impossible: Building the Kingdom of God. And except we become as little children, we may not enter therein.

You may ask the following questions:

How did we start our school? We started with the Sunday School. The first year eighteen children volunteered to come. At the end of the second week we had eighty-five enrolled. The following years we made an extensive campaign of advertising. Result for the past six years: an average enrollment of one hundred four children and twenty teachers. The spiritual result is inestimable.

Did the children like it? One example: One of the boys sat down on the Church steps on Friday after school and said: "I will not go home. I want to be first on Monday morning. And if my mother cares for me she has to bring my meals here."

Where did we get our teachers? Some of the S. S. teachers helped. The rest of them were parents of the children, who offered their help gladly and willingly. You will find that the old motto still rings true: "If you take the child by the hand, you will take the parents by the heart."

How did we finance the school? By daily offering and sale of articles. It is an excellent opportunity to teach stewardship and also sharing. No one was compelled to bring money. Those who could afford brought offering also for those who had no money. In the school every child made two of each project: one for himself, the other for the Church. On the last day of the school parents and friends were invited to the service and to see the exhibition. After the children took their things the remaining articles were sold. Thus the expenses were fully met every year.

Service to the community through the Church was of a great value. We had all denominations present, both among the children and teachers. And in return we had an increased Sunday School, and a greater respect from our community.

If you are interested in starting a Daily Vocational Bible School in your Church, we shall be glad to furnish you more information. We invite you to come and visit our school from June 20 to July 2, from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m.

Book Notes

By the faculty of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific.
 Edited by the Rev. Randolph Crump Miller, Ph.D.

One of the most important books for our understanding of the present world situation is Canon F. R. Barry's "What Has Christianity to Say?" (Harper and Bros., $2.00). He sees the present chaos and confusion as the inevitable result of the denial of the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Men cannot trust each other unless they have a common trust in God. The crux of our problem is, therefore, concerned with the Christian concept of God and Man.

Before anyone can hope to understand the Bible message, he must have some understanding of how and why it was written. In "THE STUDY OF THE BIBLE" (Univ. Chicago Press, $2.00), Ernest C. Colwell presents what might be called an "Introduction to Bible Introduction". He is writing for the average Christian who knows little of complicated scholarship. Both clergy and laity will find this book invaluable.

If you are interested in a more technical introduction to the New Testament, the great Professor Goodspeed has written a book for all intelligent Christians. Throughout this volume "Introduction to the New Testament" (Univ. Chicago Press, $2.50), we find not only the regular statements, but also the important contributions which Professor Goodspeed has made, especially his theory of the books which were written by Paul or without knowledge of Paul, and those written after the collection and publication of Paul's letters. It is a fascinating volume.

Among recent devotional literature, J. Wilson Sutton's "Our Life of Prayer" (Morehouse-Gorham, $1.25) will appeal to many. The author shows how prayer has a technique which must be learned, and he makes pertinent suggestions which will be particularly helpful to conservatives. There is also Wilford O. Cross' book, "The Crucifix" (Morehouse-Gorham, $1.25), which shows how the crucifix may be a central aspect of worship. He believes that much of the sentimentality of Protestantism is due to the absence of this symbol. In the end, salvation comes through the sacramental life of the "Mystical Body of Christ, the Catholic Church". For the Catholic branch of the Protestant Episcopal church, this book will prove most suggestive.

Bishop Schereschewsky was one of the outstanding missionaries of our denomination. His life story is romantic, adventurous, and courageous. Professor James Muller of the Episcopal Theological School, after much research, has succeeded in gathering together the material for this story, and he tells it admirably. In "Apostle of China" (Morehouse, $2.50) one can read of how Bishop Schereschewsky was born of Jewish parents in Russian Lithuania and finally became our bishop to China. He is the founder of the great St. John's University in Shanghai and translated the Bible into several Chinese languages. No one can afford to miss this book.

Reinhold Niebuhr is one of the most striking figures in American theology. Being neither a systematic philosopher or theologian, this collection of sermons is most likely to reveal the amazing fertility and originality of his prophetic mind. In "Beyond Tragedy" (Scribner's, $2.00), "the unfailing realism of Mr. Niebuhr leads just as unfailingly to a pessimistic appraisal of man's own possibilities, but sees through to an ultimate optimism by strength of his singular, prophetic faith in the truth of the Hebraic-Christian revelation".

Both clergy and laymen will be interested in William Adams Brown's "The Minister: His World and His Work"

(Cokesbury, $2.00). It not only tells of the minister's task, but also deals with material intended for the layman. The book offers a constructive help in presenting the distinctive aspects of Christianity in a scientific and humanistic world.

By a philosopher, about philosophy, and for the type of philosopher that every normally intelligent person may be, is Irwin Edman's "Four Ways of Philosophy" (Holt, $2.00). The four types presented are: logical faith, social criticism, mystical insight, and nature understood. In a beautiful and readable style, Mr. Edman presents these "ways" as those which are recurrent in all cultures. It is highly recommended.

Camp St. Andrew June 11-August 6

Camp St. Andrew, Calistoga, is the only Episcopal owned camp in the West. The camp opens on June 11 and closes August 6. The fee for the Summer Season is $50 per boy. Monthly rates on request.

The camp is under the direction of Jack Adams, Superintendent of St. Andrew's Inn, San Francisco, and assisted by a capable staff. Attending camp is more than a vacation. It is also a training school in out-door activities and crafts.

Diocesan Payment Short for First Quarter

Dr. Louis B. Franklin, Treasurer for the National Church, reports that for the first three months of 1938 the various dioceses of the Church have paid in $195,870.45 on their pledges. The amount due on these pledges should have been $250,901.00.

Cut Made in Budget

$18,730.00 is to be cut from the budget tentatively adopted by the National Council at its February meeting. Faced with a probable cut of over $47,000.00, some last minute contributions have made this much smaller cut possible. The reductions will be placed as follows: Foreign Missions, $8,265.00; Domestic Missions, $6,675.00; and General Administration, $2,650.00.

Leighton Parks Dies

The Rev. Dr. Leighton Parks, one-time rector of Emmanuel Church, Boston, and later of St. Bartholomew's Church, New York, died recently at an advanced age in England where he had lived in retirement with a daughter. An intimate friend of Phillips Brooks, Dr. Parks was an outstanding liberal and one of the great preachers of the early decades of this century.

Odd Cornerstone Service in Haiti

When Bishop Carson was officiating at the laying of the cornerstone of St. Mark's Church, Le Borgne, Haiti, the local Roman Catholic priest arranged a procession and brought the Blessed Sacrament to the scene as a protest "against the pestilential service by the intruding sham bishop". But when Bishop Carson directed that all respect be shown the procession and himself knelt as the Blessed Sacrament was carried past not more than ten feet away, the Roman priest retired in some confusion, his object unaccomplished.

Bishop Hulse of Cuba Dies

The Rt. Rev. Hiram Richard Hulse, missionary bishop of Cuba since 1915, died in Havana on Palm Sunday of heart failure. Bishop Hulse was 69 years of age.

Auxiliary Has Committee on Divorce

The Woman's Auxiliary has appointed a committee of women to confer with the General Convention's Joint Commission on Marriage and Divorce. Mrs. Norman D. Livermore of the Diocese of California is the only woman from the West on the Committee.

Quarter Million for New York Cathedral

Mayor La Guardia of New York, Chairman of the Committee appointed to raise $1,000,000.00 to complete the choir and sanctuary of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, has announced that over $240,000.00 has been received in money and pledges. Bishop Manning hopes to have the structural work completed in time for the World's Fair of 1939.

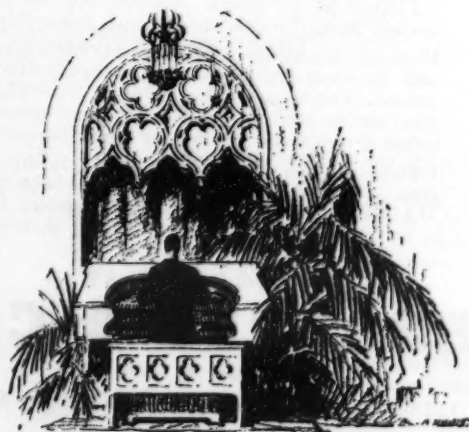

Urges Spread of Birth Control Facts

The Very Rev. Arthur B. Kinsolving, Dean of the Cathedral at Garden City, Long Island, and former Chaplain at West Point, speaking at a dinner sponsored by the Citizens' Committee for Planned Parenthood, urged the dissemination of birth control information among the poor and underprivileged as a moral duty implicit in Christianity. He made clear his own viewpoint, adding: "The marriage act deliberately performed without intent of procreating is moral. It is the essential right of the individual to be properly born, and that is moral. To have children born under the most normal conditions is a moral obligation that is inescapable."
